Deerfield Public Library -- Winter -- 2011 -- Volume 27, Number 3

Message from the Director

Building project update

As this newsletter goes to print, we continue to evaluate possible sites for our temporary location, including creating preliminary floor plans to test for suitability, and exploring lease rates and conditions. Once the final location is agreed upon and the lease signed, we will make only the minimal changes necessary to meet building codes and make the spaces usable for our purposes. Nothing fancy! We will also obtain a special use permit from the Village to operate the site as a temporary Library.

Our move from the current building to an interim site is planned for late spring. Some meeting room functions and programs will be curtailed around mid-December, as we begin packing and preparing for the move. Be assured that as soon as we know where we're going to be, we'll let the community know all the details, including—importantly—how we will continue to provide great service.

We're also moving forward with the renovation of the current Library, including making final design decisions for the interior, selecting the color palette with floor and wall finishes, and creating construction drawings for the project. We have selected Mortenson as the Construction Management firm.

You can follow our progress on our website and Facebook, or by attending our board meetings. Please see our website for dates, times, locations, and prior board meeting minutes, too.

E-book Collection E-expands

The demand for e-books is skyrocketing, and we are making adjustments to better serve you. For example, we are dedicating more dollars to extra copies of titles for which there are long waiting lists, and ONLY Deerfield cardholders will be eligible for those added copies. This will lessen the time our patrons spend waiting for a popular e-book. We will also temporarily adjust our materials budget while we are in the small temporary space to purchase additional e-books to meet demand.

On Track for Deerfield's Winter Celebration December 3rd

A very special run of very special model trains by our friends at North Central O'Gaugers is a highlight of Deerfield's Winter Celebration, Saturday, December 3, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This must-see model railroad exhibit features fictional favorites like Thomas the Tank Engine and The Hogwarts Express, as well as popular regional and historical lines.

The O'Gaugers annual visit is one of the Library's most popular family programs, and presenting it over Deerfield's Winter Celebration makes it even more special. Children of all ages will enjoy this all-day event!

Trix, Transformers and TRAINS!

The Library is happy to be a designated drop-off spot for both the West Deerfield Township Food Pantry AND Toys for Tots during Deerfield's Winter Celebration on Saturday, December 3rd. So come see the model trains and—if you choose—take the opportunity to bring a non-perishable food item, personal care or household cleaning product for the Food Pantry and a new, unwrapped toy for Toys for Tots. Your generosity helps make the season a little brighter!

Library Trustees in the Lobby

December 3rd, 10 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Stop by and ask questions or share your ideas

MONDAY NIGHT MOVIE

Please register in advance in person, by phone (847-945-3311) or online at www.deerfieldlibrary.org.

Harry Potter And The Deathly Hallows Part 2

December 12, 6:30 p.m.- 8:45 p.m.

It only seems fitting to show the final chapter of the Harry Potter series on our last Monday Night Movie before the long-awaited Library renovation! Watch the epic finale and the climactic showdown between Harry and Lord Voldemort.

Rated PG-13 ®

Book Discussions

"I LOVED this book!"

December 8, 10:30 a.m.

What better way to end the year than by discussing our faves—the books we read this year that we loved, that we couldn't put down, the books that we told our family and friends that they HAD to read? Please come prepared to talk about the book—or books—that you loved.

Looking ahead, the Library's book discussions will be taking a hiatus this winter as we prepare for our move to the temporary location. Please watch for information about the dates and locations when the book discussions resume in the spring. If you are interested in participating in an online book discussion, please contact Melissa at reference@deerfieldlibrary.org.

Ask Us via Text or Instant Message

You can now contact the reference desk via text and instant message (IM), in addition to phone or email. Text and IM are perfect for resolving quick factoid spats like who was Harry Truman's vice president, what was the name of that book about the circus magicians or answering that last minute question before book club. Send an instant message straight from our home page or text us at 847-790-4TXT (4898). We look forward to hearing from you—no matter how you get in touch!

Want the First Season of Bones? Get it All-in-One!

Have you ever looked for the latest season of your favorite show only to find that disc one was checked out? This fall we started packaging television seasons together rather than splitting discs into individual cases for checkout, so you won't miss an episode! As always, we welcome your feedback about this and any other changes here at the Library.

Meeting Room News

Our busy meeting rooms are going to be put to a different use while we gear up for the move to the interim site. Because both the large meeting room and the lower level conference room need to be dedicated to staging, sorting, and storage of moving materials, we have reluctantly decided that we won't be able to take reservations for meetings held after December 15th.

Our apologies to all the homeowners associations, non-profit, civic and educational groups, boy scouts, girl scouts and more that keep our meeting rooms hopping. We'll look forward to seeing you back in our newly refurbished meeting space in 2013!

Library Poets

Tuesdays, 6:30 – 8:45 p.m.

NOTE: Group meets at the Patty Tuner Center, 375 Elm Street, starting January 3rd.

Local poets are encouraged to share their work, inspiration, and creative processes. The group is open to poets 18 and older of all levels of experience and actively seeks new members.

Great Decisions

Tuesdays, January 24 – March 20, 7:30 – 9 p.m.

Group will meet at Village Hall, 850 Waukegan Road, in the Community Conference Room

Tom Jester coordinates thoughtful discussions and stimulating analyses of some of the great issues of our time. Discussion guidebooks will be available for purchase at the Circulation desk after January 10.

Deerfield Boys in Blue: A Civil War Program

Tuesday, November 29, 7 p.m.

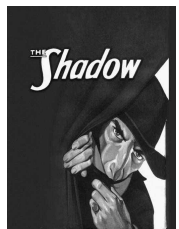

Step into Deerfield, 1860, with historical researcher Bill Kiddle, and see what everyday life was like and how dramatically it would change when the Civil War broke out. This interactive program introduces the audience to some of the Deerfield men who joined the Union army. How did their families cope? How much information reached Deerfield from and about their loved ones? Join us for an hour that will make this 150th anniversary year local and personal. A partner program of the Library and the Deerfield Area Historical Society. R

Who Knows What Evil Lurks in the Hearts of Men???

If you already know the answer to that question—or if you want to—check out the Radio Classics available as e-audiobooks at the Library. It's easy:

1. Go to the Library's home page and type in Radio Classics in the Search field.
2. In the Format box on the left side of the page, click on e-audiobooks.
3. When you make your selection, click on the information located to the right of the first arrow underneath the title. It will take you to My Media mall where you can start downloading to your computer or other device.

If you need help downloading, stop by the Reference or Multimedia Desks for help!

Go Beyond Google ...

Sometimes, you just need more information—or you need to be sure that the information you're getting is accurate, current and reliable—than the results of an “I'm feeling lucky” Google search. Here are two true stories featuring websites recommended by our fully-qualified research professionals, also known as Reference Librarians!

MedlinePlus

Recently, I had a patron ask for information on diabetes. The patron was just diagnosed and looking for reliable information but without all the medical jargon. In addition to our books (located in non-fiction, call #616.462), I introduced the patron to my favorite go-to place for medical information, medlineplus.gov. I love this site for several reasons. First, it is specifically written for patients, their families, and friends creating one of the most easily understood medical information sites out there. Second, it is produced by the National Library of Medicine and the National Institutes of Health making it one of the most reliable places to obtain information about diseases, conditions, and other medical issues.

MedlinePlus has three very helpful sections, “Health Topics”, “Drugs & Supplements” and “Videos and Cool Tools”. “Health Topics” is like an encyclopedia and provides an overview of the topic including symptoms, treatments, prevention and much more. The “Drugs & Supplements” section answers questions about why a medication would be prescribed and how it should be used. The “Video and Cool Tools” portion offers interactive tutorials and videos regarding specific topics. After reviewing these segments, the patron was thrilled with the information we discovered! This resource provided the patron with an easy to understand explanation of diabetes without dumbing down the information. As a bonus, the patron felt much more confident about what questions to ask the doctor during the next visit.

CNET

A patron needed some help choosing a tablet computer. She was going on vacation and needed something that would allow her to watch a movie on the plane, check her e-mail, and read an e-book, and it still had to fit in her bag. After taking a look at Consumer Reports online (available free to Deerfield cardholders on the Library's website), I introduced her to CNET.com, a website known for its technology reviews and how-tos. She watched videos of tablet shopping tips and reviews, compared web speed and battery life of different models, and read thoughtful reviews from CNET editors. She was able to search through the list of tablets by price range, manufacturer, screen size, and more. She found two that she really liked and she was going to see what they looked like in person at the store. She was a happy camper!

CNET is a great way to stay up-to-date with technology. They review everything from cell phones to GPS systems to digital cameras. Their video reviews are especially informative, since they spend time going over the whole device, showing off all the buttons and demonstrating how it actually works. They also offer a lot of information and advice on what to purchase and how to use it in your daily life. It's an interactive website with videos, podcasts, and more traditional articles. They invite readers to post comments and suggestions, so there's plenty of real-world feedback as well. The website can seem a little busy, with all of the different information they're sharing, but they do make it easy to search by category or by reviews, videos, and how-tos. I would definitely recommend this website to anyone interested in up-to-date tech reviews and information, and especially for people who get more from watching reviews than reading them.

AARP Tax-Aide Moves to the Patty Turner Center

AARP Tax-Aide—a free tax help service the Library has hosted for many years—will relocate to the Patty Turner Center as the Library begins its own relocation to an interim site. Starting February 3, IRS certified volunteers for the AARP will be on hand every Tuesday and Friday through April 13 from 1 – 4 p.m. at the Patty Turner Center, 375 Elm Street, 847-940-4010. You don't need to be an older adult, a member of the AARP, or the Patty Turner Center to receive assistance. Please bring copies of last year's returns and all tax forms you receive (W-2s, 1099s, etc.). Please call the Patty Turner at 847-940-4010 starting Monday, January 30, to make an appointment.

Toys for Tots

Drop off new, unwrapped toys in the Toys for Tots collection box in the Library lobby now through December 15th. This annual drive, sponsored by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, has been putting smiles on the faces of needy youngsters for over 60 years...be a part of it! Hint: Books make GREAT gifts for kids of any age!

Library Improvement Plan FAQ

Q: How are “green” practices and energy-saving features being incorporated into the Library Improvement Project?

The Library—staff and Trustees—and the professionals at PSA Dewberry, are all committed to making the renovated building as green as possible. Here’s a list of items already incorporated in the plan:

- We will monitor construction activities for possible pollution in and around the site.
- Additional green spaces will be added to the parking lot.
- Many native and drought tolerant plants will be used in landscaping.
- There will be secure bike racks near the building to encourage fewer cars.
- To reduce heat-island effect the roof has a high solar-reflectance index.
- The interior lighting will be light-harvesting and occupant-sensing.
- Restroom fixtures will be low-flow.
- We will allocate space for increased recycling.
- Where possible, building products and finishes will incorporate recycled materials.
- Where appropriate, building materials and products will come from within 500 miles of the site.
- Adhesives, sealants, primers, paints, etc. will be low in volatile organic compounds.
- Where possible, flooring and furnishings will be low-emitting as well.
- The design team includes LEED professionals in architecture, engineering, and interior design.

What Are Friends For?

2012 Rosemary Sazonoff Writing Contest

Sponsored by

The Friends of the Deerfield Public Library

The Rosemary Sazonoff Writing Contest is a Deerfield “exclusive,” as was the well-known local writer and Library Trustee the contest honors and remembers. This year, thanks to the generous sponsorship of the Friends of the Deerfield Public Library, we’ve refreshed and energized this 16 year Library tradition with several new interesting ideas, including new prizes, a great theme and more.

But first, like all good news stories, let’s start with the facts:

- Theme: “What Are Friends For?”
- Entry forms for both adults and children will be available February 1st at the Library and online on the Library’s website.
- Deadline for submissions is February 29th.
- Winners will be announced mid-March.

For Adults:

- Adults – including high school students – may submit any unpublished original story, essay or poem no more than 1,000 words in length that answers the question “What Are Friends For?” or explores, explains or expresses the value of friendship.
- Adult entries can be submitted via email at sazonoff@deerfieldlibrary.org or on paper.
- Cash prizes for adult winners—1st place, $200; 2nd place, $100; and 3rd place, $50.
- An informal public reading of the three winning entries, supported by local publicity.
- Questions? Contact Jody Wilson at 847-580-8954.

For Children:

- Writers Grades 2 – 8 may submit short, unpublished pieces of creative writing on the theme of friendship.
- Entries from writers in Grades 2 – 8 can be submitted on paper OR via email at youthservices@deerfieldlibrary.org.
- First place winners in each age category will receive a Barnes & Noble gift card.
- Questions? Contact Youth Services at 847-580-8962.

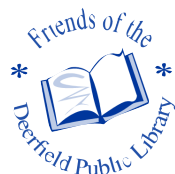

Many thanks to the Friends of the Deerfield Public Library for sponsoring this year’s Rosemary Sazonoff Writing Contest and for all that they do for the Library!

THANK YOU!

Thank you to all of our friends at Barnes & Noble of Deerfield Square for letting Clifford, Peter, Curious George and the Cat in the Hat visit the Library this year!

The Youth Services department is grateful to Susan Knaack and her team from Adventures with Bailey for assisting with Read to Rover: A Special Needs Storytime program in September.

A big thank you to the volunteers from the Lake County Astronomical Society for leading another session of the wildly popular Moon Over Deerfield program in September.

Thanks to the Friends of the Deerfield Public Library for the generous donation of an iPad, Nook, and Kindle for use in library demonstrations and programs. Library staff members are happily using the tablet and e-readers to show patrons how to download titles from MyMediaMall and for our e-book downloading classes.

We are EXTREMELY grateful to the INCREDIBLY talented and committed members of this year's One Book, One Zip Code committee: David Hirsch, Marisa Fiorito and Erin Kempf from Deerfield High School; Cathy Kedjidjian representing District 109; Andrew Lichterman from the Village of Deerfield; Jeffrey Marks representing the Deerfield Fine Arts Commission; Rita Kirby representing Bannockburn; Sherry Kaplan representing Riverwoods; Donna Stuppel from the Deerfield Area Historical Society; Joan Simonds from The Patty Turner Center; Lynne Samuels from Grand Times, and Lori Harris, our wonderful community representative.
